

What Trump's win means for policy, the economy, and markets

In the Loop November 2024

Key Insights

- Policy: Imposing assertive trade tariffs is likely to be an area of emphasis for President Trump, along with extending tax cuts passed during his first term.
- Economy: Tougher trade and immigration policies, if implemented, could potentially be inflationary.
- Investment landscape: Small-cap stocks may benefit, while potentially higher inflation expectations could lift bond yields.

R epublican Donald Trump's victory in the U.S. presidential election gives him another chance to build on many of his priorities from his first term in the White House. An assertive approach to trade policy that leans heavily on tariffs is likely to be an area of emphasis, along with deregulation.

The biggest question centers on how Trump and Congress will address the impending expiration of significant tax cuts that were passed during his first term as president.

Let's explore how a Trump presidency and the challenge of a looming fiscal cliff could shape U.S. government policy, the economy, and the investment landscape.

Policy watch: Tax cuts, tariffs, and deregulation are important themes

Gil Fortgang

Washington Associate Analyst, U.S. Equity Division of T. Rowe Price Investment Management, Inc.

Extending the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act's (TCJA) lower marginal income tax rates for individuals and tax breaks for businesses would avoid one of the largest nominal tax hikes in U.S. history. Doing so would also result in an estimated USD 4 trillion–USD 5 trillion in additional deficit spending over the next decade.

On the campaign trail, Trump voiced his support for additional tax breaks for individuals and cutting the corporate tax rate from 21% to as low 15%. Political realities may temper these proposals.

The president may also face pressure to come up with ways to help pay for continuing the 2017 tax cuts and for any 66 The biggest question centers on how Trump and Congress will address the impending expiration of significant tax cuts... new ones, creating potential policy risk for certain industries and sectors.

Take clean energy, for example. Changes to the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) passed during the Biden administration could be one avenue for offsetting the tax cut extension. Trump's pre-election comments suggested that the IRA's tax credits for electric vehicles and renewable energy could be at risk for possible repeal or adjustment.

Other proposals to cut federal spending could enter the debate, potentially creating headline risk for industries that might be affected. The range of possible outcomes is likely to be wide. But any agreement that ultimately emerges is still likely to involve meaningful deficit spending.

The potential revenue that the U.S. government could generate through stepped-up tariffs also is likely to figure into the budget conversation. Trump has repeatedly floated a 10% border tax on all goods coming to the U.S. from abroad and a tariff as high as 60% on imports from China. Setting aside the specific numbers, these pronouncements signal that Trump is likely to take an aggressive stance on trade policy that would extend beyond China.

Such an approach could set the stage for extracting concessions from other countries, either on trade or to further other policy objectives—pressuring European allies to increase their defense spending, for example. But unilateral action on tariffs likely would lead to retaliatory actions by the targeted countries.

Expect the Trump administration to seek to roll back federal regulation, including efforts to ease regulatory burdens on the oil and gas industry and the financials sector. The president may also face pressure to come up with ways to help pay for continuing the 2017 tax cuts and for any new ones, creating potential policy risk....

> – Gil Fortgang Washington Associate Analyst,
> U.S. Equity Division of T. Rowe Price Investment Management, Inc.

Economy: Robust U.S. economy faces policies that could be potentially inflationary

The new president is inheriting an economy that is growing robustly. While inflation remains above the Federal Reserve's 2% target, it has come down materially from the peaks of 2022. But the fiscal deficit is high and is projected to reach 7% of gross domestic product (GDP) by the end of 2024.<sup>1</sup> This would be the highest level ever during peacetime and outside of a recession. Although debt service costs are high-currently more than 2% of GDP each year-there were no signs during the campaign that lowering the deficit would be a priority of the new president. Therefore, any improvement on this front seems unlikely.

With respect to economic growth, all eyes are on what happens with the TCJA. While an extension of expiring provisions could support the economy, the net effect could end up being neutral overall if it means that parts of the IRA are changed to help fund it. Additional corporate tax cuts are likely to be difficult to get through given that there is limited fiscal space to increase the deficit further. If they are delivered, it could be positive for growth. However, any positive effect could be offset by uncertainty around tariffs.

<sup>1</sup> Source: Congressional Budget Office.

On the inflation front, raising existing tariffs and/or imposing additional levies on imports could cause a one-off price shock. The magnitude would depend on the ability of businesses to pass these higher costs along to consumers, which is hard to predict. Another area to watch is the new president's vow to tighten immigration policies. A tough stance here could result in a negative shock to the supply of workers, tightening U.S. labor markets. Unlike higher tariffs, such a scenario likely would have a more sustained impact on prices.

7%

The percent of U.S. GDP that the federal budget deficit is expected to hit by the end of 2024.<sup>1</sup>

Overall, it's important to be cautious about the long-term implications of the new administration's economic policies. The measures eventually adopted could be very different from those promised during the campaign, and there is a lack of detail about costs and implementation. So uncertainty is likely to remain high in the meantime.

Investment landscape: Small-caps may benefit from a Trump win, but inflation bears watching

Tim Murray, CFA

Capital Markets Strategist, Multi-Asset Division of T. Rowe Price Associates, Inc.

Knowing the result of the U.S. presidential election should resolve a major source of uncertainty for markets and the economy, which could help to lift investors' risk appetite.

In stock markets, U.S. small-caps could benefit from Trump's win, especially if his administration rolls back regulation and takes a softer stance on mergers and acquisitions. Small businesses have been cautious leading up to the election, so more clarity on policy may prompt them to rebuild inventories and step up business spending. The potential for further corporate tax cuts and for the Fed to ease monetary policy would also be tailwinds.

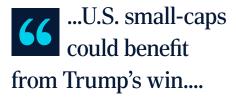

From a sector perspective, the election results are likely a mixed bag for energy. While oil and gas companies could benefit from a friendlier regulatory environment, companies linked to renewable energy may come under pressure amid concerns that parts of the IRA could be repealed. Elsewhere, financials might benefit from hopes that a Trump administration would take a lighter approach to regulation and oversight.

The potential impact of Trump's trade and immigration policies on inflation will bear watching over the medium term. Higher inflation expectations could push bond yields up further and weigh on the valuations that equity investors are willing to pay for companies' future cash flows. Trade tensions could also lead to volatility in impacted industries and markets.

Whatever deal is made about the expiring TCJA tax cuts could generate more volatility around U.S. Treasury auctions if offerings of certain maturities overwhelm demand.

With respect to the U.S. dollar, the outlook is uncertain. Although Trump has been vocal about wanting a weaker currency, some of his proposed policies, such as tariff hikes, could cause the dollar to appreciate. But other factors also will come into play, including the Fed's easing bias and U.S. economic performance relative to other global economies.

In all, it's too early at this stage to make a directional call on the dollar. But its status as the world's reserve currency is unlikely to change.

– Tim Murray, Capital Markets Strategist, Multi-Asset Division of T. Rowe Price Associates, Inc.

Conclusion

Once the election results have been finalized, that should bring an end to a big uncertainty for markets. However, markets will still be watching closely to see if and how the proposed policies of the new president are enacted.

INVEST WITH CONFIDENCE™

T. Rowe Price identifies and actively invests in opportunities to help people thrive in an evolving world, bringing our dynamic perspective and meaningful partnership to clients so they can feel more confident.

Important Information

This material is being furnished for general informational and/or marketing purposes only. The material does not constitute or undertake to give advice of any nature, including fiduciary investment advice. Prospective investors are recommended to seek independent legal, financial and tax advice before making any investment decision. T. Rowe Price group of companies including T. Rowe Price Associates, Inc. and/or its affiliates receive revenue from T. Rowe Price investment products and services. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. The value of an investment and any income from it can go down as well as up. Investors may get back less than the amount invested.

The material does not constitute a distribution, an offer, an invitation, a personal or general recommendation or solicitation to sell or buy any securities in any jurisdiction or to conduct any particular investment activity. The material has not been reviewed by any regulatory authority in any jurisdiction.

Information and opinions presented have been obtained or derived from sources believed to be reliable and current; however, we cannot guarantee the sources' accuracy or completeness. There is no guarantee that any forecasts made will come to pass. The views contained herein are as of the date written and are subject to change without notice; these views may differ from those of other T. Rowe Price group companies and/or associates. T. Rowe Price Associates, Inc., and T. Rowe Price Investment Management, Inc., have separate research platforms and make investment decisions independently. Under no circumstances should the material, in whole or in part, be copied or redistributed without consent from T. Rowe Price.

The material is not intended for use by persons in jurisdictions which prohibit or restrict the distribution of the material and in certain countries the material is provided upon specific request. It is not intended for distribution to retail investors in any jurisdiction.

DISCLOSURE CONTINUES ON THE FOLLOWING PAGE.

Important Information (cont.)

Australia – Issued by T. Rowe Price Australia Limited (ABN: 13 620 668 895 and AFSL: 503741), Level 28, Governor Phillip Tower, 1 Farrer Place, Sydney NSW 2000, Australia. For Wholesale Clients only.

Brunei—This material can only be delivered to certain specific institutional investors for informational purpose only. Any strategy and/or any products associated with the strategy discussed herein has not been authorised for distribution in Brunei. No distribution of this material to any member of the public in Brunei is permitted.

Canada—Issued in Canada by T. Rowe Price (Canada), Inc. T. Rowe Price (Canada), Inc.'s investment management services are only available to Accredited Investors as defined under National Instrument 45-106. T. Rowe Price (Canada), Inc. enters into written delegation agreements with affiliates to provide investment management services.

Colombia, Chile, Mexico, Perù, Uruguay—This material is prepared by T. Rowe Price International Ltd - Warwick Court, 5 Paternoster Square, London, EC4M 7DX which is authorised and regulated by the UK Financial Conduct Authority - and issued and distributed by locally authorized distributors only. For professional investors only.

DIFC—Issued in the Dubai International Financial Centre by T. Rowe Price International Ltd which is regulated by the Dubai Financial Services Authority as a Representative Office. For Professional Clients only.

EEA—Unless indicated otherwise this material is issued and approved by T. Rowe Price (Luxembourg) Management S.à r.l. 35 Boulevard du Prince Henri L-1724 Luxembourg which is authorised and regulated by the Luxembourg Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier. For Professional Clients only.

Hong Kong—Issued in Hong Kong by T. Rowe Price Hong Kong Limited, 6/F, Chater House, 8 Connaught Road Central, Hong Kong. T. Rowe Price Hong Kong Limited is licensed and regulated by the Securities & Futures Commission. For Professional Investors only.

Indonesia—This material is intended to be used only by the designated recipient to whom T. Rowe Price delivered; it is for institutional use only. Under no circumstances should the material, in whole or in part, be copied, redistributed or shared, in any medium, without prior written consent from T. Rowe Price. No distribution of this material to members of the public in any jurisdiction is permitted.

Korea – This material is intended only to Qualified Professional Investors. Not for further distribution.

Mainland China — This material is provided to qualified investors only. No invitation to offer, or offer for, or sale of, the shares will be made in the mainland of the People's Republic of China ("Mainland China", not including the Hong Kong or Macau Special Administrative Regions or Taiwan) or by any means that would be deemed public under the laws of the Mainland China. The information relating to the strategy contained in this material has not been submitted to or approved by the China Securities Regulatory Commission or any other relevant governmental authority in the Mainland China. The strategy and/or any product associated with the strategy may only be offered or sold to investors in the Mainland China that are expressly authorized under the laws and regulations of the Mainland China to buy and sell securities denominated in a currency other than the Remminbi (or RMB), which is the official currency of the Mainland China. Potential investors who are resident in the Mainland China are responsible for obtaining the required approvals from all relevant government authorities in the Mainland China, including, but not limited to, the State Administration of Foreign Exchange, before purchasing the shares. This document further does not constitute any securities or investment advice to citizens of the Mainland China, or to any corporation, partnership, or other entity incorporated or established in the Mainland China.

Malaysia—This material can only be delivered to specific institutional investor. This material is solely for institutional use and for informational purposes only. This material does not provide investment advice or an offering to make, or an inducement or attempted inducement of any person to enter into or to offer to enter into, an agreement for or with a view to acquiring, disposing of, subscribing for or underwriting securities. Nothing in this material shall be considered a making available of, solicitation to buy, an offering for subscription or purchase or an invitation to subscribe for or purchase any securities, or any other product or service, to any person in any jurisdiction where such offer, solicitation, purchase or sale would be unlawful under the laws of Malaysia.

New Zealand—Issued by T. Rowe Price Australia Limited (ABN: 13 620 668 895 and AFSL: 503741), Level 28, Governor Phillip Tower, 1 Farrer Place, Sydney NSW 2000, Australia. No Interests are offered to the public. Accordingly, the Interests may not, directly or indirectly, be offered, sold or delivered in New Zealand, nor may any offering document or advertisement in relation to any offer of the Interests be distributed in New Zealand, other than in circumstances where there is no contravention of the Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013.

Philippines—ANY STRATEGY AND/ OR ANY SECURITIES ASSOCIATED WITH THE STRATEGY BEING DISCUSSED HEREIN HAVE NOT BEEN REGISTERED WITH THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION UNDER THE SECURITIES REGULATION CODE. ANY FUTURE OFFER OR SALE OF THE STRATEGY AND/ OR ANY SECURITIES IS SUBJECT TO REGISTRATION REQUIREMENTS UNDER THE CODE, UNLESS SUCH OFFER OR SALE QUALIFIES AS AN EXEMPT TRANSACTION.

Singapore—Issued by T. Rowe Price Singapore Private Ltd. (UEN: 201021137E), 501 Orchard Rd, #10-02 Wheelock Place, Singapore 238880. T. Rowe Price Singapore Private Ltd. is licensed and regulated by the Monetary Authority of Singapore. For Institutional and Accredited Investors only.

South Africa—Issued in South Africa by T. Rowe Price International Ltd (TRPIL), Warwick Court, 5 Paternoster Square, London EC4M 7DX, is an authorised financial services provider under the Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act, 2002 (Financial Services Provider (FSP) Licence Number 31935), authorised to provide "intermediary services" to South African Investors. TRPIL's Complaint Handling Procedures are available to clients upon request. The Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act Ombud in South Africa deals with complaints from clients against FSPs in relation to the specific services rendered by FSPs. The contact details are noted below: Telephone: +27 12 762 5000, Web: www.faisombud.co.za, Email: info@faisombud.co.za

Switzerland-Issued in Switzerland by T. Rowe Price (Switzerland) GmbH, Talstrasse 65, 6th Floor, 8001 Zurich, Switzerland. For Qualified Investors only.

Taiwan—This does not provide investment advice or recommendations. Nothing in this material shall be considered a solicitation to buy, or an offer to sell, a security, or any other product or service, to any person in the Republic of China.

Thailand—This material has not been and will not be filed with or approved by the Securities Exchange Commission of Thailand or any other regulatory authority in Thailand. The material is provided solely to "institutional investors" as defined under relevant Thai laws and regulations. No distribution of this material to any member of the public in Thailand is permitted. Nothing in this material shall be considered a provision of service, or a solicitation to buy, or an offer to sell, a security, or any other product or service, to any person where such provision, offer, solicitation, purchase or sale would be unlawful under relevant Thai laws and regulations.

UK—This material is issued and approved by T. Rowe Price International Ltd, Warwick Court, 5 Paternoster Square, London EC4M 7DX which is authorised and regulated by the UK Financial Conduct Authority. For Professional Clients only.

USA—Issued in the USA by T. Rowe Price Associates, Inc., and T. Rowe Price Investment Management, Inc., 100 East Pratt Street, Baltimore, MD, 21202, which are regulated by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. For Institutional Investors only.

© 2024 T. Rowe Price. All Rights Reserved. T. ROWE PRICE, INVEST WITH CONFIDENCE, and the Bighorn Sheep design are, collectively and/or apart, trademarks of T. Rowe Price Group, Inc.